TRAVEL BY TRAIN

On the territory of 26 European countries

Fast, Comfortable, Cost-effective

Using combined transport (airplane and train) for European destinations with no direct flight to Sofia, is a comfortable and cost-effective alternative for business and personal travel alike. By offering a direct flight to a major international European airport closest to your place of choice, followed by a short train-ride to your final destination, you will enjoy the following benefits:

- Speed: Trains in all European countries run often, so that the timetables give a chance for a speedy trip and good choice when using combined way of transport (an airplane for the longer destination and a train for the short-distance travel).
- Comfort: There is no need for changing airplanes and wasting time in a long security line, checking and claiming baggage, etc.
- Money savings: The price of an airplane ticket plus train ticket is lower than the fare when changing planes – we rely on the special preferential rates of Deutsche Bahn.
- Additional possibilities: When you need or want to travel extensively by train in one or several European countries we strongly recommend you Inter Rail cards. These cards are at a preferential fixed price for a certain period of time - unlimited distance on the national railways of different countries, with unlimited changes of trains (special youth discounts if you are 28 or younger, or for passengers over 60).
